

Application for Graduate Problems Course (685) Women's and Gender Studies Program

Graduate students enrolled at TAMU may elect to receive certification in Women's and Gender Studies. To fulfill distribution requirements outside their department, they may attend, with the permission of the instructor, approved Women's and Gender Studies courses in other departments. It is expected that they will produce a graduate-level term paper as part of their requirement. Any other requirements or modifications must be approved by the Director of Graduate Studies.
